The Land of Dimensions

Richard Marshalla

Upon entering a meditational state
The stars in the sky
The rainbow colored grass
Dancing planets
And prancing moons
Far removed from everything
Yet so close and familiar

Frozen desserts made of liquid light
Cascading crystal trees
The laughing gnomes pop out of the rabbit holes
Glowing pyramids
And symmetrical geometrical shapes
All balanced within the third eye

Floating up into the sky
Tasting the colors of sugary galaxies
The soothing indigo music tones
Reverberated from an instrument beyond time

In this astral plain
The answers seem so obvious
The voice of infinity dissolves me
And I become one with the universe

I see everything
I am connected
The equilibrium is discovered
Balance is right
The barriers are broken
All illusion has evaporated
I am free
